Governor Mitchell E. Daniels, Jr.

October 23, 2006

Dr. Stephen Ross, Psy. D., HSPP
Chairperson
Indiana State Psychology Board

Dear Dr. Ross:

The Indiana State Social Worker, Marriage and Family Therapist, and Mental Health Counselors Board thanks you for your letter of August 23, 2006 outlining your new proposed restricted psychology test list and the request for our comments.

We understand that this list is meant to contain those tests and instruments that "because of their design or complexity create a danger to the public by being improperly administered and interpreted by an individual other than: 1) a psychologist licensed under IC 25-33-5.1; (2) an appropriately trained mental health provider under the direct supervision of a health service provider endorsed under IC 25-33-1-5.1(c); (3) a qualified physician licensed under IC 25-22.5; (4) a school psychologist who holds a valid (A) license issued by the professional standards board under IC 20-1-1.4; or (B) endorsement under IC 20-1-1.9 practicing within the scope of the school psychologists license or endorsement; or (5) a minister, priest, rabbi, or other member of the clergy providing pastoral counseling or other assistance."

After review of the list and receipt of comments from practitioners, educators, community mental health providers and our professional associations, we conclude that we must respectfully object to all of the instruments presently listed. We do so for the reason that our licensees who have the requisite training, education, and experience are competent to safely administer and interpret these tests and that the design and complexity of these tests is not such as to preclude our licensees from administering them.

Many of our licensees have taken rigorous coursework in test administration or measurement theory, have tested under supervision, and have years of experience in the field using these instruments. Many of our licensees hold doctorates in clinical psychology, counseling psychology, educational psychology, marriage and family therapy or social work where their curriculum included such training. All of our licensees are bound by our statutes and rules which establish the standard that they must practice within the scope of their training and credentials. Acting under the same professional licensing statute as your board (IC 25-1-9) we diligently oversee the licenses under our jurisdiction and discipline any licensee practicing outside the scope of experience and training.

We see no danger to the public in our licensees with requisite training and experience administering such instruments. In the attachment to this letter which samples 79 of the listed tests, one can observe that the test developers in their descriptions of qualifications for use do not specify a psychology license for the privilege of using their tests. Rather they detail type or level of education, specific certification, or requisite training or expertise in the matter as indices of competent and safe use.

We again express our concern that the citizens of Indiana have adequate access to mental health care which includes the availability of competent assessment and evaluation. Many of our licensees meet the public at the "primary care" level where the need for accurate assessment is critical to marshalling appropriate care in a timely manner. Our licensees who are well-trained in the administration and interpretation of assessment instruments and tests provide a great benefit to the public and greatly enhance the delivery of quality care to our citizens. We believe they can competently and properly administer and interpret the tests you have listed.

Sincerely,

Bertha Muenks, MSW, ACSW, L.C.S.W.
Board President
